Tony Keys – The Key Report

2015 Amon-Ra 96 Points

Such a naughty nose. It's all that one loves to indulge in, but shouldn't because some health freak says it's not good for you, or an uptight moral misery says it's the road to hell. To hell I go willingly if this is waiting. Big and rich in the mouth, this is a beauty of generous proportions. Beware if you're not up to the contest.

2015 Amon-Ra 4.5 Stars

The nose on this full-bodied, fully textured cellar dweller offers aromas of spice, floral and cedar with notes of bramble berry. It envelops the palate with a rich flow of briary berry, black, juicy Bing cherry interlaced with excellent tang, black licorice and cassis persisting through the long, balanced and beautiful, finish and aftertaste. There are strong signs this will be quite special, though tight and taut with firm, fine-grain tannin for now—open 2025 to 2037.
